Adding Library Resources

Click on your new module. Enter the title of an item you are looking for into the box and select the title radio button below to search the D'Youville Library collection. This tool will search for books, ebooks, journal articles and more from the library.

Search Library Resources

Keyword Author Title

You can link to anything in the library collection. We recommend not linking to physical books for required readings because these items are not easily accessible and are not always available (although ebooks are always an option).

The results of your search will appear in the right column. Select the blue "Add to Reading List" button below the desired record and it will add the information about that resource to your list.

Abstract: In 2012, after several high-profile cases of poor quality care in England and concerns about a lack of compassion and a need to refocus on values, the Department of Health in England published a new strategy for nursing, midwifery and care staff: Compassion in Practice. The strategy included the 6Cs... [+]

Searching Tips

Keyword searches are helpful for those that are not quite sure of the title they are looking for or for those that want an idea of what is in the collection.

Keyword searches can potentially bring up hundreds of thousands of items so knowing how to narrow your search down within the tool can save a lot of time (and frustration).

After performing a keyword search you can narrow the results list down in a variety of ways using the filters to the left of the search results.

Limit your results

- Scholarly (Peer Reviewed) Journals
- In Library (Books, Videos, Etc.)
- References Available

Update

Expand your results

- Apply related words
- Also search within the full text of the articles
- Apply equivalent subjects

Update

Searching Tips

The most helpful filter may be the “Scholarly (Peer Reviewed) Journals” check box at the top of the list of filters. Selecting this will limit your search to full text pdf journal articles that will be immediately available for your students.

[-]Source Type

Academic Journals \(38208\)

eBooks \(8149\)

Reviews \(4127\)

Books \(3442\)

Reports \(46\)

Videos \(25\)

Biographies \(22\)

Primary Source Documents \(8\)

Audio \(1\)

Limiting your searches by “Source Type” is another useful way to narrow your searches down. This will allow you to find easier to read material such as newspaper/magazine articles and ebooks.

Select the plus icon next to “Source Type” to open the menu. The source types will reflect the search results showing how many of each type was found for the current search parameters. Selecting one of the source types will limit the search to that type.

Conclusion

Make sure to publish the list when you are done. The student will get a simple list to view where they are able to click to get full text pdfs from the library.

Congratulations! You have just made a great reading list.

The screenshot displays a library interface with a language dropdown set to 'English' and an EBSCO logo in the top right. The main content area lists two academic journal entries, each with a 'Full Text' button. The first entry is 'An Exploration of the 6Cs as a Set of Values for Nursing Practice' by Baillie, Lesley, published in the British Journal of Nursing. The second entry is 'The Conundrum of Caring in Nursing' by Adams, Lisa Y., published in the International Journal of Caring Sciences. A link at the bottom of the page reads 'Library Web Page (website launches in a new window)'.
